Director's Notes

And the love affair continues....

Just like his wives, Mary and Barbara, I first fell in love with (anything but) ordinary British cabbie, John Smith, about 18 years ago. I first introduced John to TGV audiences in November, 1994, when I directed the prequel to tonight's production, "Run For Your Wife". Although this director may have become a little worse for wear in these ensuing years, John seems to remain forever young and energetic as he continues to endure himself to this family, and I hope, to you also, our audience. And if John's story continues in years to come, this director would be honored to keep his company for another eight weeks.
