The isolated house is the only dwelling on the island and has neither boat nor telephone connection to the mainland. Upon arrival the guests learn their hosts will not be arriving until the next day. As they get acquainted they learn that none of them have ever met their hosts and some strange things begin to happen. It starts with a recorded voice accusing each of those in the house of murder in one form or another! And then, one by one, murder is done. Until only two are left - - and the murderer, of course!
